The children must be gathered authorized warrants of the order. Of course all expected to have this money in place at the Grand Lodge when the Auditor would be on the grounds, This will not do and I am determined that the people's money must be handled right. I cannot see to save my soul how a man can figure that because he sees a cheap piece of property that he is justified in reaching over and spending a thousand dollars of the people's money for his own personal benefit. It might be safe in the case of a wealthy man, and I have my doubts, if he lived, but he might die. Then we must go into the courts or wait upon some administrator's pleasure to get what is rightfully ours. I have found that the average man handles money right when he is properly supervised, and I am recommending that the Auditor examine all officers not less than twice per year and as outen as the circumstances necessitate. Reduction of Representation I want the members of this State Grand Lodge to be thinking about another matter, and that is the representation of our Supreme Grand Lodge. Our order is now too large to continue the old custom of having three delegates from each lodge come to the Supreme Lodge. In the first place, the delegation is so large that it is unwieldly and nothing can be done in the way of legislation or deliberation. Second, it is a crime to give the railroads that amount of money. I am therefore going to recon mend at our next Supreme Lodge that the delegates to the Supreme Grand Lodge be elected from the state grand lodges and that each state be allowed about 16 delegates not including State Grand Lodge officers. These delegates will represent all the lodges in their state and each lodge in the state instead of having to pay the expense of three delegates will simply be taxed $2 each representation fee which will go to pay the expenses of the State delegation. With this I have given you a pen picture of the great work of the order. I have endeavored to do my duty as God gave me wisdom to see the same are open and above board and made for the general good and the benefit of all to join in and feel free in helping us prosecute the work ahead.
